FAINTING IN THE COURT ROOM. WEEPING AND HOWLING BY WOMEN WHEN JAMES

The pronouncing of sentence on James J. Martin in the Court of General Sessions yesterday was followed by an extraordinary scens, Martin is a young man not much past his majority, and has not previously been a criminal. He was much intoxicated on the night of April 22, and closed the evening by going with his brother and closed the evening by going with his brother francis to the liquor store of Davis & Cuff, at Third-ave, and Seventy-fifth-st. While at that place the brothers had a dispute with Peter Retel as to the merits of Patrick Nugent, a clog-dancer. Retel was invited by the Martin brothers to go outside and settle the quarrel, but he refused to go, and the young men left the place. Retel left the store some time afterwards, and was shot in the street. The Martin brothers were arrested on suspicion. Police Captain Gunner found a hat belonging to James Martin not far from the scene of the shooting, and a revelver belonging to him was afterward discovered with three chambers empty. Francis was detained as a witness. J. MARTIN WAS SENTENCED.

and a revelver belonging to him was afterward discovered with three chambers empty. Francis was detained as a witness.

James J. Martin was arraigned yesterday before Recorder Smyth and pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the first degree, the penalty for which is from five to twenty years' imprisonment. The Recorder in passing sentence said that the plea had been accepted because the prisoner was so much intoxicated when the shooting was done that it might have been impossible for him to have formed a guilty intent. He comprimented the police on the diligence that had been shown, and dwelt on the gravity of the crime committed. He said that in view of Martin's youth and previous innocence he would take off a part of the extreme penalty, but the sentence for so grave an offence must be a severe one.

The remarks of the Recorder were listened to by twenty or more women who were friends of the prisoner. They were seated near the bar, and among them were the mothers and sisters of the prisoner. When the Recorder said to Martin: "The sentence of court is that you be imprisoned for eighteen years and six months in the State Prison," a simultaneous cry rose from the lips of the women. They started from their places and advanced toward the prisoner. Martin, who was pale and appeared much affected, turned away from the Judge and started toward the prisoner pen. Before he had advanced two steps he fainted and fell at full length upon the floor. The court officers picked him up and carried him, still unconscious, into the prisoners' room. The women became still more excited when they saw the prisoner fall and kept a continual cry, or rather howl, with shouts of "Oh! Jimmy!" "Poor boy!" etc. Several minutes passed before the-court officers could succeed in restoring quiet and getting the women out of the room.

Martin recovered consciousness in a short time, and was taken us charge by Cantain Lindsley, of

of the room.

Martin recovered consciousness in a short time, and was taken in charge by Captain Lindsley, of the Court Squad. A large crowd, nearly 100 in number, of the friends of Martin had collected to witness his departure for the Tombs. The officer, however, went out by a rear door and took his prajoner on board a street car. The crowd of Martin's friends found out that he had been taken away and rushed up Centre-st., but the prisoner was safely ledged in the Tombs.

THE DEFENCE OF JOHN DEVOY.

THE DEFENCE OF JOHN DEVOY.

In the Court of General Sessions yesterday the defence of John Devoy, who is charged with libeling August Belmont in charging him with having diverted nearly $20,000 of the Fentan fund in 1865, was begun. In the court room were a number of prominent Irish azitators and sympathizers, some of whom had been summoned as witnesses in the case. Among them were Vicar-General Quinn, J. O'Donovan Rossa, Stephen J. Meany and Major Haggerty. Michael J. Costello, who has been associated with Colonel Charles S. Spencer in the conduct of the case, opened for the defence in a speech that occupied an hour. He charged that August Belmont & Co., back of whom were the Rothschilds, who in turn were backed by the British Government, had entered into a conspiracy to prevent the money deposited with them from ever reaching the hands of the men for whose help it was intended. The money amounted to nearly $20,000 and was intended to aid in the defence of a number of Fenians who were on trial for treasonfelony. Drafts were procured from Belmont & Co. on the Rothschilds, but the latter refused to pay them, showing a notice from the Crown Solicitor that money contributed for the purpose of carrying on war against the Crown was forfest. Suits were begun to recover this money from Belmont & Co., and a long litigation insued.

In the course of his speech Mr. Costello charged that the anit, ating impulse in the present prosecution was the wish to help the political fortunes of the Belmont family. August Belmont heing a prominent Democratic politician, the District-Attorney's office was obliged to take action. Mr. Fellows declared that the statement was false and that Mr. Costello refused to make any admission that he knew that the motives, perhaps not of Mr. Fellows, but of the office he represented, were different from what he had represented. Her his opening remarks, Mr. Costello alternated with Colonel Spencer in reading the record of the civil suits to recover the Fenian fund tried fourteen years ago.

THE FINANCE DEPARTMENT INQUIRY.

The committee of Aldermen engaged investigating the Finance Department held two sessions yesterday. George E. Hill, Commissioner of Accounts, testified that he had been examining the accounts of the Controller's office for the first quarter of the present year. He had found vouchers for all warrants drawn. Robert A. Pinkerton, the detective, told how he had investigated Carroll's dealings with down-town brokers and others. He found that a considerable part of Carroll's stealings had been used up in gambling. He had discovered no trace of counterfeit coupons, and after a thorough investigation had been unable to find that Carroll had any forgers or counterfeiters among his acquaintances. Controller Campbell was recalled and testified that he had clerks enough in his department to perform the duties. He thought Deputy Controller Storrs should have acquainted him with the fact that uncancelled coupons had been found in Carroll's desk. He wished to say, however, that Mr. Storrs was a faithful, hard-working official. THE FINANCE DEPARTMENT INQUIRY.

TWO STORIES ABOUT A STABBING.

TWO STORIES ABOUT A STABBING.

Policeman Daniel Crowley, of the Sixth Precinct, was stabbed in the breast and back late on Tuesday night, at his home in the tenement house No. 37 Debrosses-st. Two versions of the stabbing were given yesterday. One was that Crowley heard a quarrel in the house, and got out of bed to stop a fight between Stephen Markbam, his landlord, and another man. Markham then stabbed the policeman. But Mrs. Markham and another person in the house said that Crowley and Markham had quarrelled about money matters, and that Markham had meed a knife in self-defence after he had been attacked by Crowley. The wounded policeman was in the Chambers Street Hospital yesterday. The surgeons said he would recover. Markham was arrested soon after the stabbing. He was taken to the Tombs Police Court yesterday, and held to swait the result of Crowley's injuries.

SEEDSMEN DISCUSSING THE TARIFF.

The American Seed Trade Association continued its deliberations at Horticultural Hall in Twenty-eighth-st, yesterday. The attendance was larger than on Tuesday, many delegates from the Western States not being able to reach the city in time for the opening session. The morning was devoted to a discussion of the tariff as affecting the seed trade. There seemed to be no unanimity of opinion upon the subject. Some of the delegates were in favor of a reduction of the present "exorbitant rates," while others, among whom were Mr. Parker, of Boston, advocated free trade, The association did not wish, it was said, to place itself upon record as being favorable to free trade, as it might be placed in an unpleasant position in the near future.

In the afternoon a discussion was held upon the protection of seedsmen against unjust claims for damages arising from a failure of seeds to germinate, or the lightness of crops from causes beyond the control of man. It was said that seedsmen lose thousands of dollars each year through the fraudulent claims of unscrupulous farmers. The speakers were Messers. Bolgiano, of Baltimore: Meggat, of Wethersfield, Conn.; Chase, of Rochester, and Reid of New-York. No agreement was reached yesterday in regard to the matter, The thanks of the association were extended to the members during their stay in this city.

DEPARTURE OF THE YANTIC.

DEPARTURE OF THE YANTIC.

The United States steam corvette Yantic sailed from the Brooklyn Navy Yard yesterday at 4 p. m. for St. John's, N. F. There were only a few persons at the Navy Yard to witness her departure. There was a little detention in starting, owing to the absence of a scaman who had indulged in a spree, but who was finally found and brought on board by two mariner. The Yantic was low in the water owing to the immense amount of provisions and coal on board. Before starting. Commander Wildes was heard to express the wish that the corvette was not loaded to within six inches of her present line. From St. John's the Yantic will go direct to Godhavn on the Island of Disco and will act as convoy to the scaling steamer Proteins, which has been chartered by the Government for the Garlington party. From Godhavn she will go to Littleton Island at the lower end of Kennedy's Channel, where she will remain until the return of the Proteus, or until she is forced to go south on account of the ice. Lieutenant Ernest A. Garlington, commandant of the Relief expedition, sailed on the Yantic together with Dr. Harrison, two Signal Service officers, Ensign Dressel as naturalist, and ten soldiers.

Information was received yesterday that Sergeant George W. Wall, of the Greely Relief Expedition, who left this city on the steamer Albambra for St. John's, New-Foundland, on Thursday last, had net with a serious injury to arm and hand, and had been obliged to return from Haiifax. He was in charge of the stores and other supplies for the expedition. Lieutenant E. A. Garlington, who commands the expedition, also sailed on the Albambra.

A PECULATING SALESMAN. Another defalcation, similar to that of the two clerks of Lang & Robinson which occurred recently, was rumored among members of the Produce Exchange yesterday, but owing to the disinglination of the rictims to talk about the matter, the full details could not be obtained. climation of the victims to talk about the matter, the full details could not be obtained. It appears that a salesman, one Cruger, employed by William R. Clarkson & Co.. flour merchants, Nos. 7 and 9 Water-st., was discovered to be a defautter to between $5,000 and $4,000, and he was arrested and locked up about a week ago. Since that time negotiations have been pending for a compromise of the amount in default. Mr. Clarkson is in California, and when his partner was asked yesterday for information with regard to the matter at ali!"

"Well, was the amount as large as $3,000 or $4,000!"

"Something like that; but then we are negotiating for a settlement."

"I understand that this is not the first defalcation that has occurred among your clerks!"

"Something similar has happened two or three times before, but we have let the offenders go. We concluded this time to take a different course. We have got Cruger locked up and we are now in a fair way to compromise."

To the disgust of Hartford and the gratification of New-York William H. Vanderbild's three mares, Maud'S, Aldine and Early Rose, were brought to this city from Charter Oak Park yesterday. The trainer, Bair, accompanied them. They were taken on their arrival to Mr. Vanderbilt's stable at Madison-ave, and Fifty-second-at,, where their owner met them and personality saw to the taking care of them by the grooms. The mares seemed glad enough to get back into their roomy box stalls filled with clean straw, after their long ride, and equally glad to see their master, who patted them on the back, and carefully examined them to see if their five weeks' solourn at Hartford had been of benefit to them. All three of the mares were in excellent condition. Mand S. is looking her very best. "She is in beautiful condition," said Mr. Vanderbilt, as he looked at her. EXTORTING MONEY FROM POLICEMEN.

Policeman Jacob J. Brush, of the Sixth Precinct, until recently a roundsman in the Ninth Preemet, was tried before the Police Commissioners yesterday on charges of extorting and attempting to extort money from other officers. Patrolmen Taylor. Doughty and Todd, of the Charles st. squad testified that while Brush was a roundsman over them he attempted to extort money by threats of making charges against them. Patrolman Miller swore that he had given money to Brush on three occasions—$5 each time—when it had been asked of idm. The witnesses were examined by John D. Townsend, Ernsh's counsel, who also made an argument to the effect that the four policemen had conspired against Brush. A general denial was made by the accused policeman. The Police Commissioners, by a unanimous vote, fined Brush thirty day's pay, or $100. EXTORTING MONEY FROM POLICEMEN.

A THIEVING POST-OFFICE CLERK.

A THIEVING POST-OFFICE CLERK.

W. R. Valentine, age nineteen, a cierk in Postal Station B, in Grand-t., was arrested yesterday on a charge of stealing money from the mails. He has been employed in the postal service since last September. His alleged method of stealing was to keep and open all the "stray" letters, or letters that had come to the station by mistake and were intended for deliver/in other stations. Valentine was suspected several days ago, and seven decoy letters containing marked money were sent through the mails. He opened them, and when arrested yesterday pointed out the place where the money was concealed. It was found behind a gas-meter. He also had in his possession about $100. He acknowledged his guilt to inspector Newcome, who made the arrest. He was taken before Commissioner Shield, and held in $2,500 to await the action of the Grand Jury.

A WOUNDED MAN'S STORY OF A TRAGEDY. James O'Hara, a carpenter, age forty, was admitted into St. Michael's Hospital, Newark, on Tuesday night. His right leg had been cut off above the knee. He stated that on Monday afternoon, while on his way from work at Perth Ambey, he met two friends who were drunk, and he attempted to get them home. In crossing the Long Branch Raifroad tracks the two drunken men staggered in front of an approaching train and were instantly killed, and in his efforts to save them he lost his leg.

A POLICE DESCENT ON LOTTERY SHOPS.

For some time Inspector Byrnes has had his staff of detectives at work in connection with the lottery-policy shops. He ascertained that at No. 176 Greenwich-st, was the headquarters of Frederick E. Luthy, who daily made up the drawings and gave them to "runners" for distribution among the various policy shops in this city. Yesterday armed with a warrant issued by Justice White, Detective-Sergeauts Reilly, Von Gernehten, Adams and Dunn went to the place. They found in the place the proprietor, F. E. Luthy, Eugene Hall, Louis Seiler, Anthony Conway and a "runner," Frederick Schneider. After placing the five men under arrest a search of the premises was made and a considerable amount of paraphernalia and two printing-presses used for printing the daily drawings were found. The stuff was placed on a cart and driven to Police Headquarters where it was delivered to the property clerk. The prisoners were brought to the Tombs Police Court and arraigned before Justice Smith. Luthy said that he was aretired merchant, fifty-one years old, who was born in Naples, Italy. He lives at No. 356 West Fortieth-st. The accused men gave bail for their appearance on Saturday. While this raid was being made other officers of Inspector Byrne's staff were similarly engaged in the upper part of the city. Detective-Sergeant Heard succeeded in purchasing a policy slip at No. 787 Eighth-ave. He then obtained a warrant and arrested Amos A. Smith, who was in charge of the establishment. Detectives Lanthier and Kush proceeded to One-hundred-and-twenty-first-st. and Third ave., where a whole building is devoted to the lottery business. After a prolonged wait, and no opportunity for a quiet entrance being had, a forcible entrance was effected by breaking in the door. At the time there were about 60 men in the building, the majority of whom were colored. They immediately began to scamper, and they all escaped. William C. York, who was found in charge was arrested and he, with Smith, were brought to the Tombs P A POLICE DESCENT ON LOTTERY SHOPS.

STOCK EXCHANGE INTERESTS.

The American Bank Note Company has long enjoyed a practical monopoly of the business of eugraving railroad stock certificates and bonds, because the Stock Exchange has refused to admit because the Stock Exchange has refused to admit securities prepared by any other company. Frequent efforts to break down this rule have been made without success. At a meeting of the Governing Committee yesterday it was voted that the work of the Homer Lee Bank Note Company should be admitted, provided that the standard of workmanship was satisfactory to the Committee on Stock List. Some of the members of the Exchange considered this an admission of the company, but others suggested that the former rule had not been really changed.

At the meeting there was a long discussion of the relations of the Gold and Stock Telegraph Company with the Exchange, but no positive action was taken. Permission was given some time ago to a rival company to introduce its "tick" on the floor, but the amicable arrangement of details has been found a difficult matter. The question was referred back to the Committee of Arrangements. It is understood that several elaborate speeches, which have been in preparation for some time, were delivered at the meeting.

EXPERIMENTS ON THE BRIDGE.

EXPERIMENTS ON THE BRIDGE.

Superintendent Martin is interested in watching the effect of team traffic on the roadways of the Bridge. Spruce and cedar flooring have been but down lengthwise and crosswise, and "gum wood," treated by the "zine tanning" and "crossoting" processes is also being experimented with. The latter is soft, deadens sound and has no grain; but it rots easily in its native state. If the artificial means of protecting the wood from this tendency proves effectual, the superintendent thinks that the gum wood will be superior to any other wood. The railway tracks in the Brooklyn station are all laid, and Assistant Engineer McNuity had the satisfaction on Monday of running a train of cars on all the tracks of the station before his departure west to attend the annual meeting of the American Society of Engineers.

William C. Kingsley has written to H. Bell, in reply to his letter asking if the Bridge Trustees intended to comproffice suits for damages growing out of the Bridge accident as follows:

He told Superintendent Walling that he had taken the woman from a house in Hudson-st, early in the morning, and had been driving her about the city ever since. The woman was questioned, but she refused all information concerning herself. A large-trunk and a bundle which she had with her were turned over to the care of the Property Clerk, and she was then driven to the Jefferson Market Police Court, when Justice Gardner committed her for thirty days in default of $300 bail, for intoxication. A reporter visited the woman in prison, to whom she said that her name was Clara W. Delaney, the wife of a mineral water manufacturer, and the daughter of E. C. Jackson of No. 87 Hudson-st. NO FEAR OF A WATER FAMINE.

No FEAR OF A WATER FAMINE.

Notwithstanding the continued not weather, there is as yet no serious drain on the water supply. All the storage reservoirs are full and the water is running over the Croton dam. There has been a slight increase in the depth of water in the Central Park Reservoir, it being twenty-nine feet four inches. When full there is a depth of thirty-five feet. Unless there is a long-continued drouth there is not much likelihood of a water famine this year. The officials of the Department of Public Works are checking waste wherever it is found practicable. "There is water enough for the public, if carefully used," said Commissioner Thompson yesterday, "but we cannot afford to waste any. The increased consumption of Croton in the upper wards is no small item."
